

Sharing Story Time with Your Baby

Read early and often!

Beginning early is important. It teaches babies language long before they are able to talk. The more words your child hears, the more words they will learn. Sharing story time is also a special time that gives lots of opportunities for connecting together!

Here are some simple tips for sharing story time with babies:

